Education of the Deaf Amendments Act

Congress recently passed the Education of the Deaf Act Amendments of 1992 amending and reauthorizing the original Act through 1997.

The amendments include:

- Adding a new section to the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) which allows the Secretary of Education to make grants to institutions of higher education (in partnership with other appropriate organizations and agencies) to fund research into the unique needs of Deaf children in order to develop and evaluate effective instruction methods and assessment tools.
- Extending and amending authorizations for Gallaudet University and the National Technical Institute for the Deaf. Consolidating the authorities for elementary and secondary programs administered under the Act.
- Requiring that the Secretary of Education expand the purpose of the Rehabilitation and Training Center on Deafness/Hearing Impairment to include developing effective models and strategies demonstrating new approaches for providing education to students who are Deaf and from minority backgrounds.
- Allowing the Secretary to conduct new training projects for teachers of the Deaf.

The Act became effective October 1st, 1992 (Public law 102-421, 106 Statute 2151).

Workforce/Tech Prep Information

By the year 2000 only 17% of the jobs in the U.S. will require a four year baccalaureate degree or higher and 8% will require only a high school degree. 75% - 80% will require skilled labor with technical training of some kind, usually associated with a two year Associate's degree. Currently, for every degreed engineer (4-5 year degree) hired, eight engineering technologists (2 year degree) are hired. By comparison, during the 60's and 70's 25% of available jobs required a four year degree or more, while 75% required a high school diploma with a few requiring apprenticeships. Currently and for the future, America needs a work force well-grounded in math, science, communication and technology skills.

ASL Lab Time Changes

Since November 18th ASL teachers Ann Reifel and Brian Brizendine have been available for ISD staff members every afternoon in the Vincennes University Language Lab. Due to the low usage of the lab by staff, this system will change beginning Monday, March 8th. Both may be contacted in Alumni Hall through the Learning Resource Center for assistance with ASL. Staff who wish to use the Vincennes University lab in the afternoon should schedule a time with Ann and Brian. They will be happy to meet interested individuals in the lab and work with them. Both have classrooms in Alumni Hall, Ann in 231 and Brian in 217. If contacting them by phone call the LRC, extension 419.

Student Employee of the Week

Tammy Hostetler has worked as a Kennel Assistant at the Castleton Pet and Veterinary Clinic, 8123 Castleton Road, September, 1992. She has been a dependable, hard-working employee who loves the animals.

Cooperative Education teacher Dan Studer would like to commend Tammy for her participation in the Related Studies class that is required for Cooperative Education. Studer reports that she connects the concepts taught in class with her on-the-job experiences at the clinic and discusses them in class. She also shares experiences from her past summer jobs with her classmates. This enriches the class for the students and teacher. Tammy is really making the effort to transfer what she learns to assist her at work. She helps make the class enjoyable and worthwhile for all parties. The Cooperative Education Program staff appreciates Tammy's drive and participation.

Health Facts - From the Files of ISD's Health Center

Foot Care Facts

Feet should be washed daily and dried thoroughly afterward, especially between the toes to prevent the painful cracks that can occur if feet are damp or wet all day. Apply a little foot or baby powder to feet and between toes to ensure that feet remain dry. Soften corns and callouses by soaking feet twice every day. Prevent foot odor by changing socks daily and try to alternate shoes. Give toenails weekly care: cut nails straight across even with the end of the toe - never cut into the corners (which causes ingrown toenails). Push back cuticles with a towel after washing your feet. Avoid tight fitting shoes or shoes with very high heels. It is always important to see a doctor or podiatrist for continued foot problems.
